Core Feature

Dating app built around prompt based profiles taking focus off purely looks.

Background

Hinge was founded in 2012 by Justin McLeod and later acquired by Match Group in 2018

Unique Selling Proposition

Built around the "designed to be deleted" philosophy.

Business Model

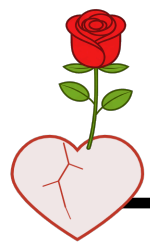

Hinge operates on a freemium model. Subscriptions unlocks additional benefits like unlimited likes, advanced filters, and seeing who has liked you.

Revenue Streams

Subscriptions like HingeX and Hinge+ are offered and unlock massive benefits. Other in app purchases are available like roses and boosts.

value, different dating goals, and lack of connection

“I have met people who just genuinely don’t have the time but they still lie about what they want when they just want to hookup”

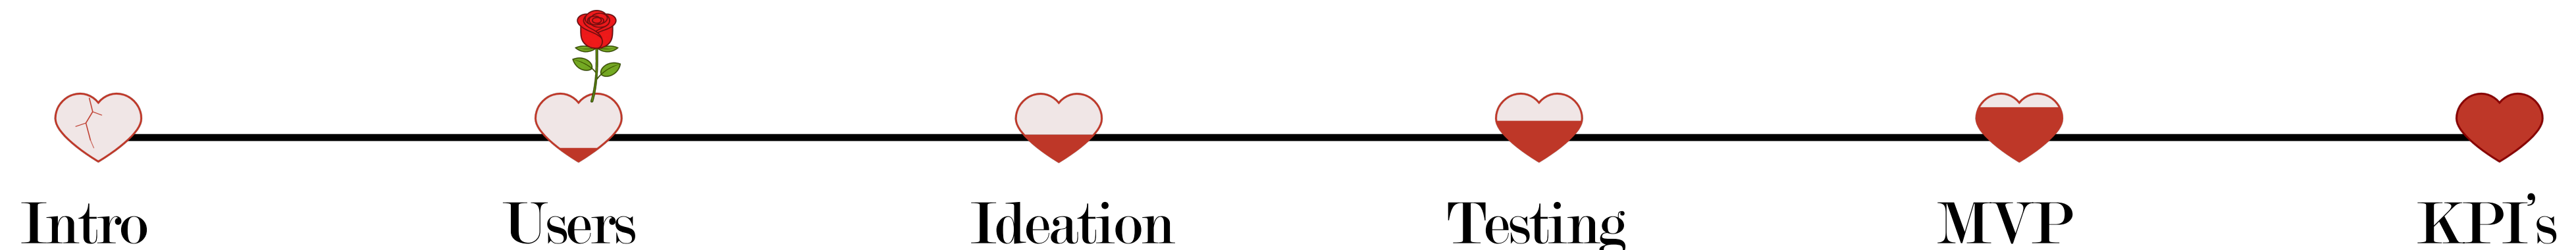

-Ayah

“I’ll usually just stop if they’re being bland in conversation”

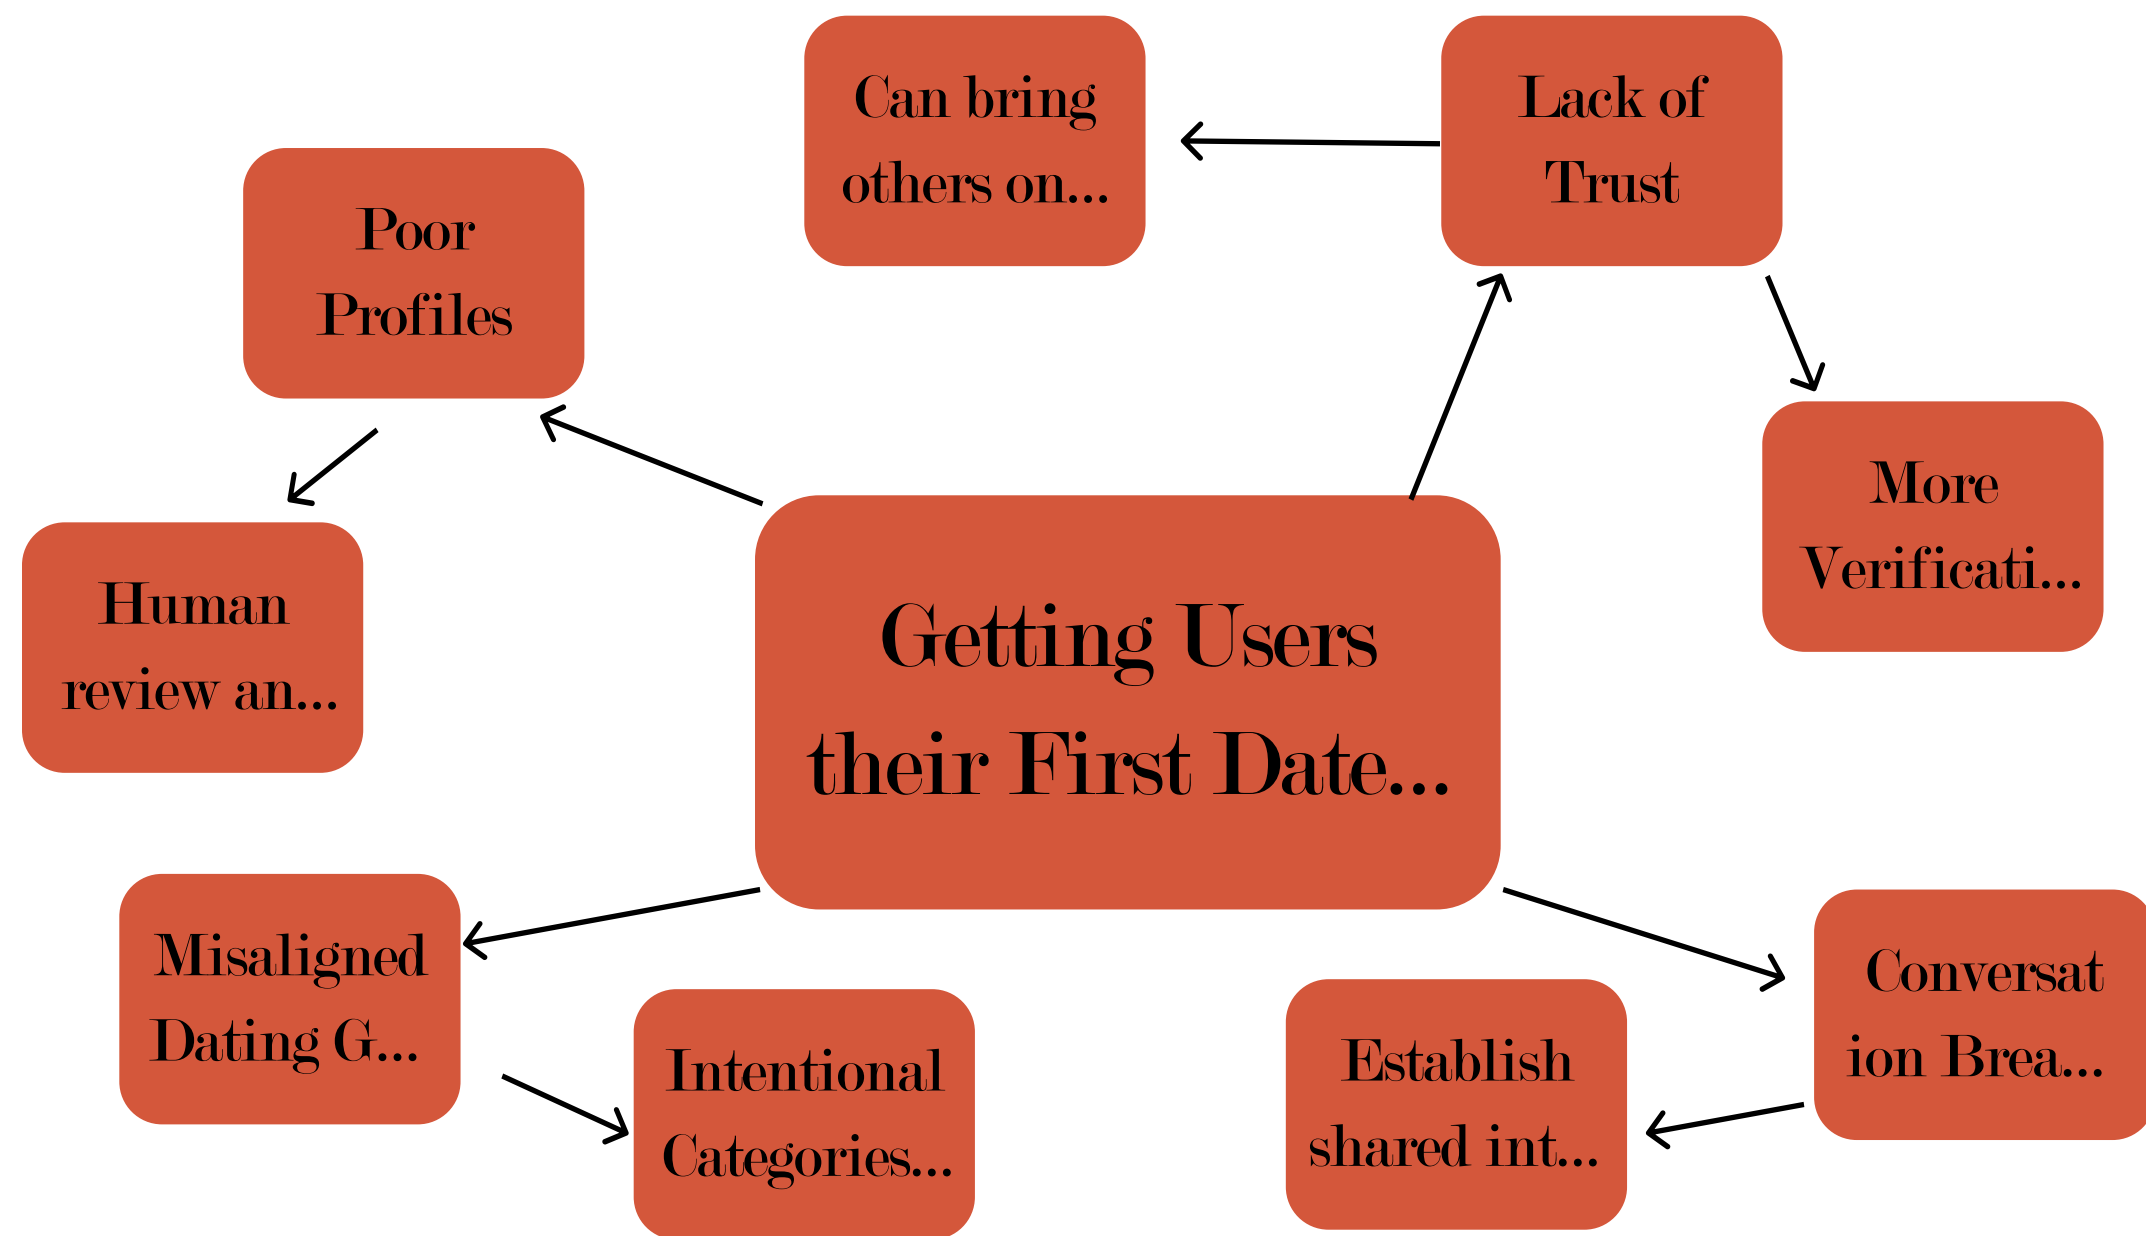

-Max

“I got his instagram and we were going to move to there but then I saw some red flags on his instagram and changed my mind”

-Clara

Pain Points

For Hinge specifically users like other users and after going through a plethora of other people it can feel like too much in trying to find the right perso
Mitch Cahill

Users find conversations to fizzle out over a lack of connection, whether that be interests, hobbies, or even similarities
Mitch Cahill

Users often match with others who might have interest in a long-term relationship but upon talking realize they are just there to hookup
Mitch Cahill

Users largely do not see the value in purchasing a Hinge subscription of any form as it does not add enough for them or is not worth the price point
Mitch Cahill

Users will often not check messages right away to avoid seeming desperate or cringe and instead pt to answer later in the day to keep up their nonchalant attitude
Mitch Cahill

Users find it uncomfortable to unmatched explicitly and instead opt to ghost people and let them figure it out themselves yet this often keeps the others wondering
Mitch Cahill

Users find that people they match with can be lying, whether that be about their location or their qualities and proves to make users not trust the app as well

New Matching Feature

New category where users can invite friends and match as a group

Four person chats when each person matches with the one they chose

Option to change a normal date to a double if both parties agree and friends accept invite

Value Proposition

For users who feel anxious or unsafe meeting someone new alone, Hinge+ One removes the biggest barrier between a match and a first date. By bringing a trusted friend into the experience, it reduces awkwardness, builds trust, and creates the conditions where real connections can actually form. And by locking the feature behind Hinge+, it gives users a new reason to subscribe as it is offering a fresh feature, not just more access.

What did the users say?

“I love that, I think it would make it a better app honestly.”

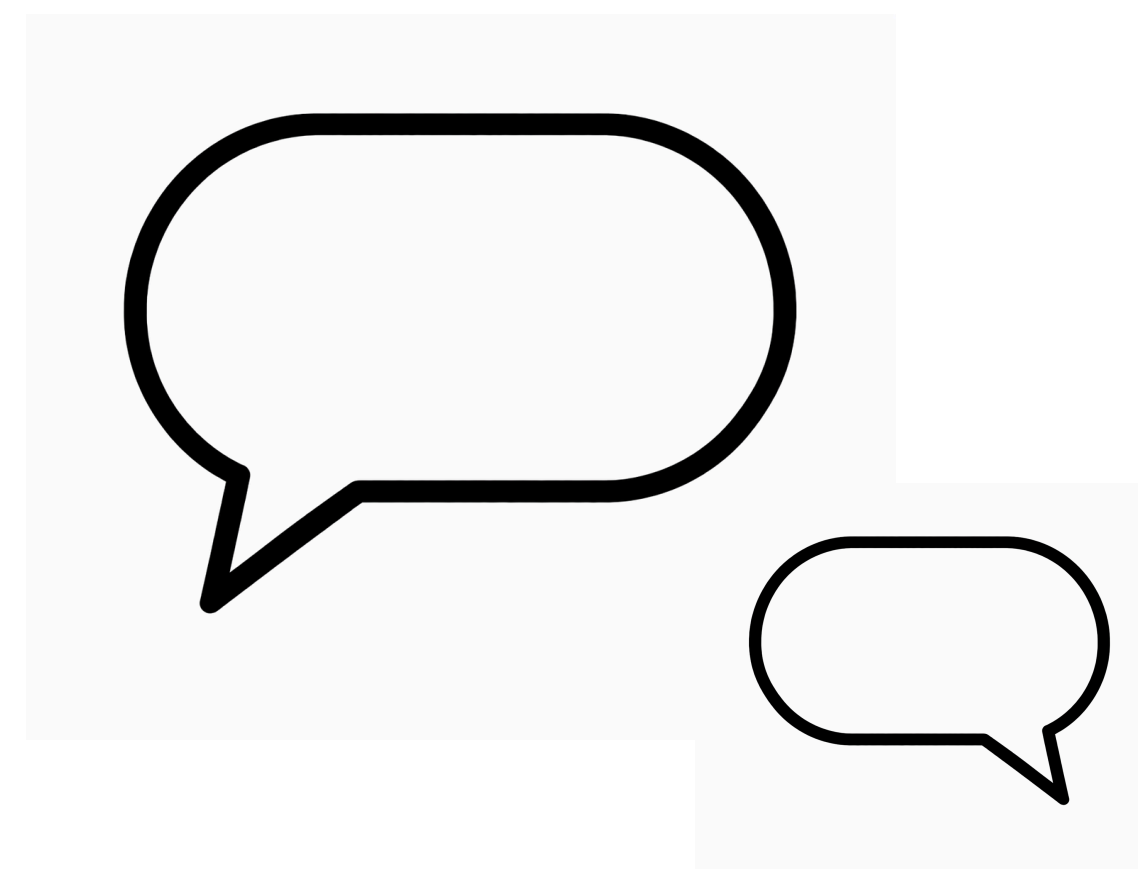

-Ayah

“It would make it more comfortable.”

-Zoey

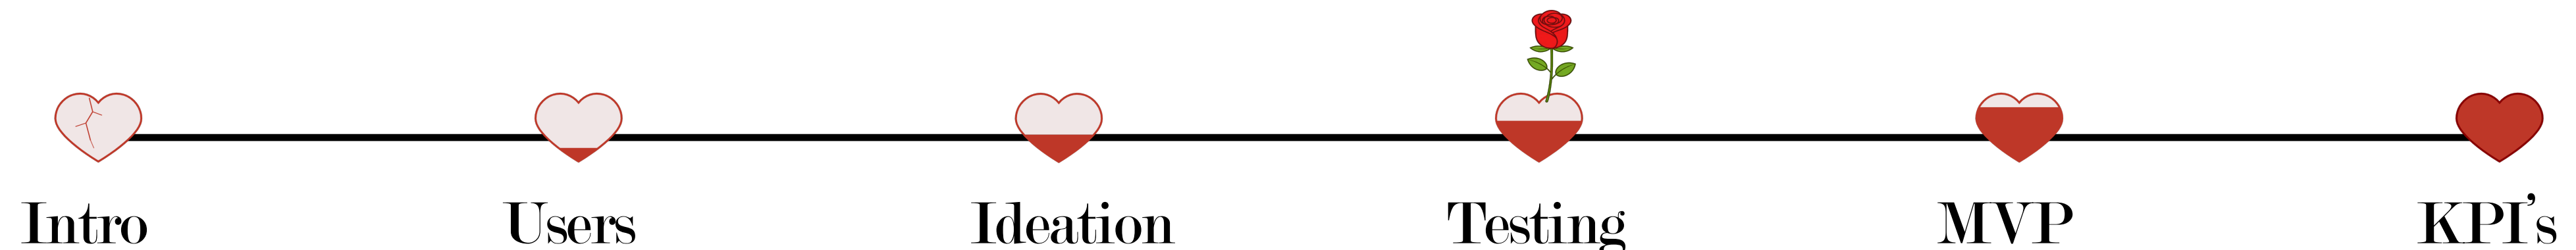

“Yeah and hey worst case scenario you get a funny story with your friend now right?”

-Michael

Future Testing H

- Does feature makes users more comfortable
- Conduct interviews to as product releases
- if users report feeling more comfortable: it is a keeper

Pair Matching

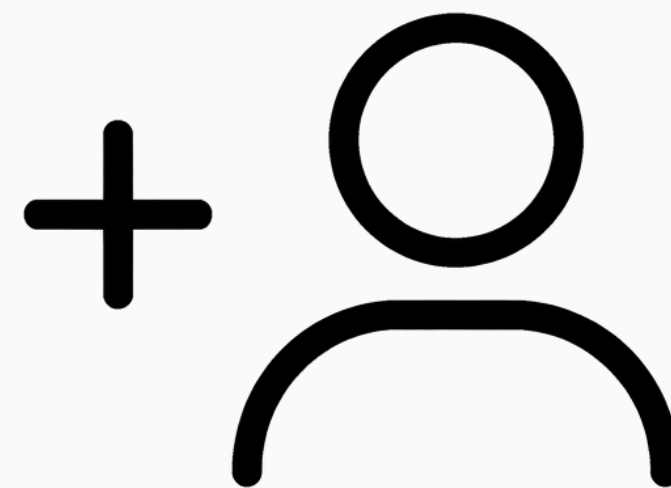

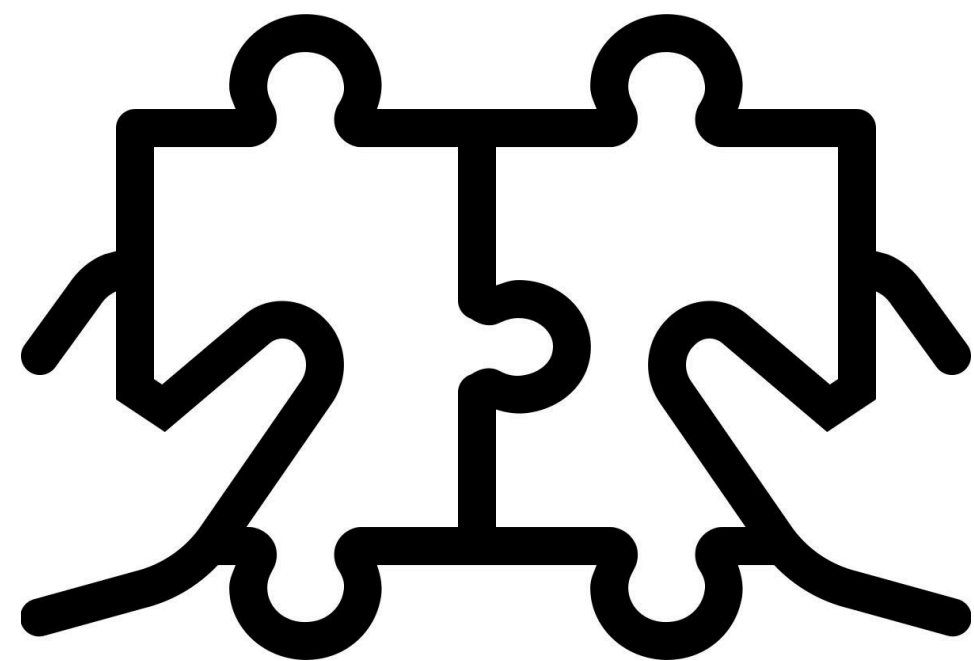

Users can invite one friend who also uses Hinge to form a temporary pair for meeting matches together.

Invite a Friend

Users can invite a friend with a match to make a date a double date if accepted by friend and match ad match provides a friend.

Group Chat

Once a pair match occurs, a shared four person chat opens so users can coordinate a meeting.

Hinge+One

Bring a friend along for the ride

Invite a friend with a Hinge account. Once paired, you'll browse other duos together and can match into a 4-person chat.

Invite a friend

How does this work?

How it works

1

Invite via text

Send your friend a unique code. They need a Hinge account.

2

Browse as a duo

You'll see other duos. Like one person from each duo you browse.

3

Start a group chat

When both duos mutually like, a 4-person chat opens.

9:41

← Invite your +1

Share this code with a friend who has a Hinge account. They'll enter it to join your duo.

Chloe

Okay wait, hi!! This is so fun 😄

Nina

Chloe literally screamed when we matched lol

You

Haha we're obsessed with the Lisbon story, we need details

Jamie

Also which one of you has strong opinions about things that don't matter 🤔

Chloe

Both of us, honestly. Should we get drinks and find out? 🍷
